English Letter Express.

The London Daily News says that a memorial is about to be forwarded to the Postmaster-General asking for the establishment is England of a "letter express." The memorial has been signed by the lord mayor. Lord Randolph Churchill, Cardinal Manning, the bishop of London, Lord Wolseley, and Sir John Lubbock. It is briged upon the Postmaster-General that among the great mass of letters hourly easing through the department there must be miny of such importance to the senders that they would gladly pay a small extra ise for immediate delivery. It is suggested that the charge for express delivery should be threepeace.

MR. GORDON'S SPEECH. Mr. Gordon's speech was a great hit. Its subject, its happy treatment, its fine delivery, held the vast audience for an hour. Few men have had the good fortune to delight so highly their auditors, for most speakers here are glad enough to hold their undiences at all, because they are largely made up of youthful couples who find so nuch to talk about as to produce a general much to talk about as to produce a general buzz. But to-day Mr. Gordon did the talk-ing so well that everybody dropped his own theme to hear his. His speech was as fol-lows:

predicted this result; that Speaker Reed and his strikers would in timidate a sufficient number of Republicans to pass the bill. It is a conceded fact that, as Allen, of Mississippi, stated to-day, the bill were considered solely upon its merits, and the members all voted in accordance with their individual judgment and the dictates of conscience, the bill would have been defeated by a two-sthirds majority. On no occasion during this session has Reed displayed more aggravated partisanship. He went beyond all his former acts. He was absolutely reckless, He openly ignored the Democrats, and deprived them of the privileges of debate, which had been accorded them by agreement in the House when the order of debate was first adopted. Instead of having the speakers alternate, one Republican and one Democrat, the Speaker recognized Republicans to succeed each other in the debates, and permitted Republicans to speak beyond the limit of their time. Democrats, by persistency and strong lungs, succeeded in shouting out that McKinley, La Follette and other Republicans had been allowed to concume more time than belonged to them under the order of arrangements. Democrats, by persistency and strong lungs, succeeded in shouting out that McKinley, La Follette and other Republicans had been allowed to consume more time than belonged to them under the order of arrangements. The speaker paid no attention to these protests. He simply ignored the minority. He fully realized that he had undertaken to crowd through a bill which was condemned by the people; that many of the Republican newspapers and all the independent papers denounced the bill unsparingly.

A MODERATE DEBATE.

MONTHLY STATEMENT OF CIRCULATION.

The Treasury Department mounthy statement of changes in the circulation, issued to day, shows a net decrease during June amounting to $1.472.275. There was a decrease of $1.91.391 in United States hotes; $1.641.545 in national bank notes; $8.99.75 in gold coin, and $371.845 in standard silver certificates. $591.620, and subsidiary silver, $3.874. The total circulation of the country on July 1st is placed at $1.429.718,376, which is $49.572,326 less than on July 1st, 1899.

A MODERATE DEBATE.

To-day's debate was not violent. Everything considered, it was remarkably moderate. The Democrats were vigilant and took advantage of every possible point. In the combat, Mr. Springer led the Democrats and he made a gallant fight. He is out for the Speakership of the next House, which everything indicates will be Democratic, and in his management of the fight against this villainous election bill, Springer has very materially strengthened himself with his party in the House, and in the country.

Now, as to the probable fate of the bill:

hitherto expressed by THE TIMES, that it will be either smothered in committee or defeated on a square vote in the Senate. The only hope of Reed, Lodge and Rowell is that the Senate will adopt Chandler's resolution to amend the rules so as to cut off debate. Unless that is done they admit that there is but a feeble chance of the bill becoming a law, as the Democrats could fillibuster as long as they pleased against the resolution. There is no means of applying a gag-law in the Senate under existing rules, but more than this, such Republicans as Senators Edmunds and Ingalls are openly opposed to any rule that would the night, are openly opposed to any rule that with wherever ago Senator Edward. In a speech several of the series of the series of the several of the series of the serie curtail debate. In a speech several days ago Senator Edmunds said he regarded it as highly essential that there should be one legislative body in this country in which measures could be debated without limit and where legislation could be deliberately considered. Edmunds is indignant at the recent criticisms of Perkins, Payson and other House Republicans of the Senate. These men denounced the Senate as a body that was subject to corporate influences and that never considered the wishes of the people. Senator Edmunds is a stick ler for all the privileges and prerogatives of the Senate, and he frankly says that he will not assent to any rule or any proposition looking to a limitation of debate that is not approved by the whole Senate. Senators lagalls and Wolcott are opposed to any garrale, and are also opposing the passage of the Federal election law.

FIVE RECREANT DEMOCRATS.

The Democrats who were in the city and yet absent from the House and unpaired when the Lehlbach amendment to the election bill, to make it apply to every Congressional district North and South, was voted down yesterday were Crain, of Toxas Whitthorne, of Tennessee, Stahlnecker, on New York, J. D. Brown, and O'Neil of Indiana. Coleman (Republican), for Louisiana, who opposed the bill, was also absent without a pair. Had all these members been at their posts, this important amendment, proposed by a Republican, would have been adopted, instead of being defeated. The four derelict Democrats have no valid excuse to offer, except on the part of Whitthorne, who has been dangerously ill.

THE RESCTION VS. THE TARIFF BILL.

The belief that the Tariff bill can be passed through the Senate within three weeks of the beginning of the debate upon it is based upon the conviction, which many Republican Senators bave, that the National Election bill, which passed the Hottse to-day, will not pass the Senate at this session of Congress. More than one Republican Senator expressed to-day the belief that the majority in the Senate would make no determined effort to pass the Election bill. The Denoeratic opposition to this bill was so strong that there is little doubt that every possible dilatory action would be taken to accomplish its defeat. One of these actions would undoubtedly be the prolongation of the tariff debate, and the expectation of many Republican Senators is that the Republican leaders will be able to give the Democratic mandatures as a assurance that no effort the majority mass the Election bill at this THE REACTION VS. THE TARIFF BILL. predicted this result; that Speaker Reed and his strikers would in-

A careful analysis of the fiscal operations of the government during the past year, as disclosed by the public debt statement of receipts and expenditures, issued from the Treasury Department yesterday, places the excess of revenue over expenditures, in round numbers, at $81,000,000, and the surplus revenue for the year, after deducting about $40,000,000 bonds applied to the sinking fund, at $44,000,000. In the preceding year the surplus revenue amounted to $48,604,007.

Horse.

GREENSBORO, N. C., July 2.—[Special.]—A considerable stir in commercial circles was created here yesterday, caused by the seizure by the sheriff of the stock of Mr. J. M. Chichester, glass and creckery dealer. There was a change in the name and stylo of the firm about two years ago, when W. J. Chichester withdrew from the firm of Chichester, Brothers. The stock and business has been owned and controlled exclusively ever since by Mr. J. M. Chichester, the present proprietor. Some claim against the former firm, it was thought could be made good by the proceeding. Of course, it means litigation, as Mr. Chichester has given notice that suit for damages will be instituted.

Mr. Everett Pugh, who lives in the southern part of this county, was kicked by a horse on the nose and jaw last Fridely, with serious result. His jaw was broken in two places, and all his teeth knocked loose. His condition is reported critical.
